Seventeenth Annual Meeting Held at Saxton

INTERESTING SESSIONS

Topics of Importance Discussed—Officers Elected—Resolutions Adopted and Other Business Transacted.

The seventeenth annual convention of the Bedford County Sunday School Association, held in Saxton on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, was one of the most interesting, instructive and successful in the history of the organization. The opening session in the Lutheran Church revealed the presence of workers from all sections of the county.

President W. S. Lysinger of Bedford opened the sessions by announcing the hymn, "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus," which was followed by scripture reading and prayer by Rev. E. L. Kennedy of the Fulton Memorial Presbyterian Church of Saxton.

Following the hymn, "Just As I Am," Rev. M. A. Spotts, pastor of the church in which the convention was held, delivered the address of welcome. His greeting was most cordial and he declared it a great pleasure to extend to the delegates present the hospitality of the town. He said, "We all study one book whose author is God and the aim of which is salvation. There is no greater work in which we can engage than the Sunday School work. In it we labor to train men and women for the kingdom of God; it stands for all that is noble."

In his response President Lysinger said he was glad and delighted to hear such a kindly greeting, and in behalf of the delegates and members of the convention he thanked the people of Saxton for their welcome. He hoped that the delegates in all things would "make good." He urged all to get into the spirit of the work, that they might carry back to their schools a stimulating influence for good, and trusted that the convention would be of great benefit to the Sunday Schools of the town and county.

Following additional music the delegates were assigned to their temporary homes and the session closed with the benediction.

Tuesday Afternoon

The session opened by singing and an hour of devotion led by President Lysinger, who stated that our purpose in the world is the winning of

Mrs. Lynn Davis

Mrs. Emily, wife of Lynn Davis of this place, died on May 19, 1911, of Bright's disease, aged 21 years, five months and five days.

She was a daughter of Emanuel and Ella Troutman, of Friend's Cove, and is survived by her husband, one child, one brother and two sisters.

Interment was made in the cemetery at the Old Brick Church, Friend's Cove, on Sunday, May 21, at 11 o'clock, Rev. J. C. Knable, pastor of Friend's Cove Reformed church, having charge of the services.

First Brick Laid

Early yesterday morning to the music of the bird choir and in the glow of the rising sun, Frank Fletcher, Esq., on special invitation of Contractor Kane, laid the brick that began the paving on Juliana Street. Little, perhaps, did our distinguished townsman realize that when he played the hardened clay in position he was laying the first of thousands of bricks that will, in time, completely cover the thoroughfares of the historic town.

To Subscribers

If the tag on your paper reads "June '10" you owe us a year's subscription and an order of the P. O. Department forbids us to continue to send you your paper unless the year's subscription is paid. Attend to it at once so that you do not miss any copies.

BROAD TOP SCHOOLS

Successful Term Closed with Appropriate

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Three Graduates—Rev. W. W. Willard Preaches Baccalaureate—Dr. Van Ormer Addresses Class.

This week closes another successful term of school in Broad Top Township. The first schools closed March 31 and the last will close May 26.

On account of sickness and poor work of the last year or two, which kept a number of boys at home to help their parents support the family, the attendance was not what it should have been, but on the whole there was a good spirit manifested and the schools made marked progress.

The attendance at the local institutes was better than usual. The Lecture and Entertainment Course was fairly well patronized but owing to poor work and several bad nights many persons could not enjoy these entertainments.

The schools at Riddlesburg were delayed and very much handicapped because of the loss by fire of the fine brick building at that place. The teachers there deserve special mention for the good work they did under the circumstances. The directors are making arrangements to rebuild this summer.

Owing to the heavy expense the district will incur in erecting the new building at Riddlesburg, there will be very little repairing done this summer, yet a good fence will be put around the Finleyville lot.

Our people are interested in all the schools of the township, but after the seven-months schools close, the interest centers about the High School at Defiance. There is reason for this, as the term is two months longer than the others and it is made up of students from the other schools of the township as well as Coal Dale, Hopewell and Hopewell Township.

MEMORIAL DAY

Program for Tuesday, May 30, at 10 O'Clock Sharp.

The following program has been arranged for the observance of Memorial Day in the Court House at Bedford on the above named day. All persons who have flowers are requested to send them to the Court House early in the morning. The patriotic families of Bedford are requested to assemble in the Grand Jury room at 9 o'clock and prepare wreaths and flowers for decoration. The services will be as follows:

Music by the Samuels' Orchestra and Miss Shuck.

Divine Invocation, W. V. Ganoe.

Presentation of Flag from the ladies of this community to Maj. William Watson Post, No. 332, G. A. R., by Miss Hetty Barclay.

Acceptance of Flag by Dr. Americus Enfield on behalf of the Post.

Oration, Father W. E. Downes.

The graves will be decorated by fifty boys requested to volunteer from the ages of nine to fifteen. Each boy will be presented with a flag by the Post. Boys intending to volunteer for this noble and patriotic service are requested to wear a red, white and blue sash and report at the Court House at 10 o'clock. This request is made because the soldiers are too old and feeble to carry on the ceremony of decoration. A full program of the exercises will be distributed at the Court House.

Will Bore for Water

At a special meeting of the Town Council Saturday evening, attended by all members except Mr. Lysinger, it was determined to bore into the mountain above the Todd reservoir for additional water. The Solicitor, George Points, Esq., was directed to invite the contracting firm of Veatch & Solienberger to meet with the Council to complete arrangements. Work will likely be begun very soon.

MR. MATT'S SPEECH

Delivered at Harrisburg on May 16 When

THE KLINE LIQUOR BILL

Came Before the House of Representatives for Third Reading and Final Passage.

Following is the speech in full of Hon. John T. Matt, delivered before the House of Representatives at Harrisburg on Tuesday, May 16, when the Kline Bill, authorizing the State Treasurer to grant licenses to distillers and brewers to deliver their goods anywhere in the state, orders having been received at their places of business, in quantities not less than one gallon of whiskey or 12 pints of beer.

"Mr. Speaker, it seems to me we have pretty nearly reached a crisis in the legislation or attempted legislation at this session. In practically every State in the Union the cry is 'Back to the people.' We all profess to believe in representative government, but the question will not down: 'Whom do we represent?' Is it the people or is it the special interests? You may look lightly upon such a statement as this, but you cannot go back to your constituents and look them in the face when at the behest of special interests you reverse the policy of years. The Brooks High License Law on our statute books has stood to the brewer, the distiller and the retailer a little above the Ten Commandments, as a perfect instrument for the glory of God and the good of the people. With such a reverence for this law on the part of the liquor interests, the friends of temperance reform accepted the situation and, before going further, studied its provisions. Then they found that, properly interpreted, it did give a measure of local control over the liquor traffic. Keeping to the point at issue, the friends of morality and temperance actually found that some of the plainest provisions of this and

Commencement Notes

The seniors who have been excused from actual school duties this week are hard at work on their Class Day exercises. Contrary to custom, the members of the class have each an oration which will be delivered Monday evening, instead of commencement, a regular lecturer having been secured for Tuesday evening, as announced in last week's issue. One of the pleasant features of the entire commencement will be the music. A chorus of twenty male voices, which has been preparing for the past two months, will furnish the music for Baccalaureate.

At Class Day the unique musical feature will be the fact that the entire class—eight in number—will render selections of piano music; three instruments will be used. The class will sing a song of greeting, and their regular class song, the music of which has been written by Mr. Hoechst of the High School faculty.

Many expressions of gratitude have been expressed because of the kindness of the Bedford Orchestra. This able organization has consented to furnish the music for commencement night. A concert will be given from 7:30 to 8 p. m., immediately preceding Dr. Ellis' lecture.

Decorations are in charge of the junior class, as per the time honored custom in our High School.

Tickets for Class Day can be purchased Saturday and Monday at Dull's Drug Store, and for Commencement, Tuesday all day.

Presbyterian Market Tomorrow

The Woman's Circle of the Presbyterian Church will hold a market in the Shuck Building tomorrow afternoon and evening. This market was to have been held last Saturday, but was postponed on account of the baseball festival in the square. At the market tomorrow housekeepers will find things which will save them the trouble of baking, and will add a great deal to the Sunday dinner.

PERSONAL NOTES

People Who Move Hither and Thither in This Busy World.

Dr. W. G. Rook of Altoona spent several days this week in Bedford.

Mr. Harry Corle of Canton, O., is the guest of his mother and brothers.

Rev. W. V. Ganoe was in Philadelphia this week having his eyes examined.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dill were visitors to Pittsburg several days last week.

Mrs. Mary A. Jeffords returned a few days ago from a visit with friends in Altoona.

Mr. J. A. Arnold of Houtzdale visited his brother, Mr. W. S. Arnold, several days this week.

Mr. Peter A. Bisel and family, of New Paris, were guests a day this week of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Davis.

Miss Jessie Fetterhoff of Huntingdon is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Edward Dill, at the Union Hotel.

Messrs. Chauncey Howsare and Neal Hafer, of Cumberland Valley, were among recent callers at our office.

Mrs. M. E. Alsip and daughter, Miss Rena, left last Saturday for Atlantic City, where they will spend a week.

Mr. Joe F. Amos, after spending some time here with his sisters, Misses Mary and June, at the Corle House, left for Pittsburg on Tuesday.

Mrs. Sarah J. Hammaker of Washington, D. C., who has spent her summers here for a number of years, arrived for the season a few days ago.

Miss Kate Beegle and Mrs. William Beegle, of Altoona, were guests of Mrs. Lottie Over recently. They came to this county to attend the funeral of their niece, Mrs. Aaron Garber, at Schellsburg on Saturday.

Mrs. Alice Morgart and Mrs. J. C. Shoemaker, of Rainsburg, accompanied the former's daughter, Mrs. George McClintic of Fort Wayne, Ind., who, with her two children, had been visiting her mother, to Bedford on Wednesday on her way home.

James H. Kay

James H. Kay, until about a year ago a resident of Saxton, died in the Cambria Hospital, Johnstown, on Thursday, May 18, aged 52 years and 10 days.

Mr. Kay was stricken while at work for the Cambria Steel Company. He was grinding on an emery wheel when he thought a piece of steel struck him in the eye. He went to a hydrant and while bathing became unconscious in which condition he remained until his death.

He was born in Stonerstown, May 5, 1859, and resided in that part of the county until he moved to Johnstown. He was a machinist in daily life and an excellent mechanic, later he became a locomotive engineer on the H. & B. T. road.

He is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters, Mrs. W. H. Hamilton of Saxton, Harry F. of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Mame Weaverling and Jesse, of Johnstown.

The funeral services were held in the Church of God, Saxton, on Saturday, May 20, the sermon being preached by Rev. Dr. George Leidy of the M. E. Church of that place, and interment was made in the Fockler Cemetery. The services were in charge of Washington Camp No. 185, P. O. S. of A., Saxton, of which deceased was a charter member.

Actions Brought

Thomas J. Croyle has brought an action against William Claar for cutting and removing timber trees from plaintiff's land in Union Township.

L. Blanche Mullin of Philadelphia has brought suit against the executors of A. C. Mullin, late of Saxton Borough, deceased, to recover the sum of $719.71, being the amount of three promissory notes signed and sealed by the decedent and delivered to the plaintiff.

Marriage Licenses

Lester Weicht and Hulda Karns, both of West Providence.

Ed. J. Wendle of Johnstown and Laura J. McGregor of Pleasantville.

Eldy W. Hillegass and Gertrude A. May, both of West End.

RAISING THE MAINE

Immense Caissons Now Completely Encircle the

ILL-FATED VESSEL

Work Impeded by Break in Huge Cofferd-Dam Enclosing the Wrecked Ship.

(Special Correspondence.)

Havana, Cuba, May 18.—The difficulties surrounding the work being done at the wreck of the battleship "Maine" by the United States government in its efforts to ascertain the cause of the explosion which destroyed that vessel more than thirteen years ago, are multitudinous.

One of the twenty large caissons which form the great oval around the wreck of the "Maine" spent a few days since and has given the men on the work much extra labor and worry, for the reconstruction of the caisson is no easy job. When one considers that the steel piling used in the construction of these caissons are 75 feet in length, three feet protruding above the surface of the bay at high water, 35 feet in the water, 17 feet in the mud which covers the bottom of the harbor, and 20 feet in the earth beneath, some idea can be obtained of the painstaking work required by the under-aking. Add to this the fact that these piles come in broken lengths and have interlocking joints, the preciseness with which the work must be done becomes more apparent.

The piling are made of heavy steel, the interlocking joints being comparable to the jays of a pipe wrench, or to the half-closed hand, with fingers and thumb bent, the similarity being that the "fingers" clutch into one another and the "thumbs" rest against the backs of the interlocking fingers. This makes a very tight joint the entire length of the piles; and adds greatly to the general strength of the caissons, an essential feature to the successful issue of the work. There are 150 of these piling used in the construction of each caisson, each pile being one foot wide, making the completed cylinder, or caisson, 50 feet in diameter. They appear to be so many great barriers set up on end surrounding the historic wreck.

These caissons are separated by

Mrs. Aaron Garber

Lillian, Maude Statler, wife of Aaron Garber, died suddenly Wednesday night, May 17, at her home in Jennings, W. Va.

Deceased was the oldest daughter of the late Dr. Samuel G. and Emma J. Statler, and was born in Schellsburg, April 21, 1862, thus being in her fiftieth year. Mrs. Garber was a sister of J. Earle Statler who died in Tucson, Ariz., April 25, 1911. She was a loyal wife and mother, a devoted friend, kind neighbor, always ready to assist and sympathize with others in time of need or sorrow. Her death is a loss, not only to her own family, but to many others, to whom she had endeared herself by her unselfish life.

She was a life long member of the Presbyterian Church, and is survived by her husband, one daughter, Edna Pearle, one son, Donald S., and the following brothers and sisters: Dr. Frank B. Statler of Johnstown, Frederick W. of Rainsburg, Herbert A. of Pleasantville, Charles E. of Cumberland, Miss Bertha Statler and Mrs. Charles McCreary, both of Pittsburg.

The body was brought to Schellsburg Saturday morning and laid to rest in the beautiful cemetery above the town.

The Professor's Mystery

The Pittsburgh Dispatch is giving its readers a series of delightful serials. It has been able to secure another big one, fresh from the press, full of romance, vigor, action, mystery and sentiment. Just the thing for hot weather reading, it breathes the atmosphere of the ocean, the mountains, the lakes, the woods, with rapid-fire occurrences and startling climaxes, an absolutely unsolvable mystery and a love story intertwined that is sure to make you sit up and take notice. This novel, which will begin Monday morning, May 29, is "The Professor's Mystery," by Wells Hastings and Brian Hooker, and is breezier and better even than "Are You My Wife?" or "The Phantom of the Opera," great novels already given Dispatch readers. Why wait until a story gets old? Read The Dispatch and you have them fresh from the printing press. "The Professor's Mystery" is unique. The movement is strange, the outcome unlooked for. Your curiosity is aroused in the first chapter, and the mystery appeal is great. You are sure to like it. Surprises come with every turn and the solutions knock out all your calculations. Begin with the opening chapters in The Daily Dispatch Monday morning, May 29, and you will read every installment. And you will fall in love with Professor Crosby, with Miss Tabor, with all the interesting characters that have been drawn true to life—not life in some historic age, but life this summer of 1911. Don't miss this rare literary treat.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

An Elk County Mystery

One of the most notorious murderers known to the United States lived in Elk County, Pennsylvania, about the middle of the last century. His crimes were innumerable, and were not all committed within the bounds of Pennsylvania.

So picturesque, however, is the man's character that the fact that he lived in Elk County entitles his record to a place in The North American's series of Pennsylvania's greatest criminal mysteries. It is one of the greatest stories of its kind ever printed, and will appear next Sunday, May 28.

One of this series is published in The North American every Sunday. They are attracting wide attention among lawyers and criminologists, and on the part of the general public.

souls. Numerous short prayers, hymns and brief talks occupied the hour. Vice President M. H. Kramer of Hyndman stated that in his travels over the county in the work he found much to encourage but room for improvement, and urged all workers to re-double their efforts in their work for the cause.

The reading and adoption of the minutes of the last annual convention, held at Everett, by Recording Secretary M. N. Stalley was followed by the appointment of the following committees:

Nominations—Prof. H. D. Metzger, D. W. Rhodes, J. C. Roberts, Albert Poor and Misses Mary Way and Lizzie M. Bain.

Resolutions—Revs. George W. King, D. G. Hetrick, N. S. Bailey and Misses Alice Redinger and Eva Lockwood.

Finance—Allen Eichelberger, John I. Marks, Clayton Diehl.

Enrollment—J. A. Cuppett, H. G. Smith, J. Walter Price.

A rising vote of thanks having been given to J. A. Cuppett as Vice President for one year and Statistical Secretary for five years, for his faithful and appreciated service, the convention divided among the other churches of the town for conference work.

At the Reformed Church the Elementary conference was presided over by Mrs. W. H. Lloyd of Everett. "Graded Lessons and Primary Work" was discussed by Mrs. Maud J. Baldwin, State Primary Worker, of Indianapolis, Ind., in which she very clearly and effectively presented the different departments of elementary work from the infant to the grown boys and girls; the great importance of their correct training, and the best modes of commanding their interest and sympathy; the need of separate rooms, the need of graded work from the beginning.

The Home Department was held at the Lutheran Church, presided over by J. G. Collins. The subjects discussed were "Home Department, a Spiritual Force," by Rev. H. E. Wileand, and "The Connecting Link" by Rev. J. Gulden.

The Teacher-Training Department in the Presbyterian Church was presided over by J. C. Stayer of Woodbury. "Teacher Training a Permanent Feature of the Sunday School" was well discussed by Rev. F. W. McGuire of the Church of God, Saxton, showing how that feature has come to stay and is a beneficial one. "The Benefits of the Advanced Course" was presented in a convincing manner by Rev. D. L. Hetrick and "Correlation of Public Schools and Sabbath School Work" was presented by others.

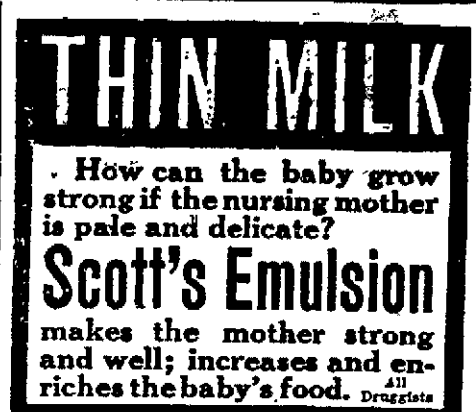

The Organized Adult Bible Class Department conference in the Methodist Church was presided over by M. H. Kramer. W. D. Stem of Kansas discussed the subject, "The Well Developed Organized Bible Class," showing the advantage of organized over unorganized classes, and their helpfulness. The points developed were a strict business manager; record keeper; regular offering; department of literature, the principal book being the Bible; secure new members; go out and invite people to church and school, welcome new members, plan socials, the real social kind; plan devotionals; visit the sick and needy—we are delegating things away to other organizations that ought to be the duty of the church; teaching the lesson, on this hinges the whole of the above points and it should bring them out. Select your officers before you elect them. Develop systematic going.

Tuesday Evening

The evening sessions opened with a song service, led by a chorus of upward a hundred voices directed by V. N. Herbst, with Mrs. Herbst as organist. Devotional exercises were led by Rev. Dr. George Leidy of the Saxton Methodist Church, followed by singing "The King's Business."

The first speaker of the evening was Mrs. Maud J. Baldwin, whose subject was "The Elementary Vision." She portrayed the need of vision in Sunday School workers, to enable them to direct the minds of children. Her forte was the elementary branches of the school—the cradle roll, the beginner, the primary and the junior departments. One branch is not more important than the other, and the work in them if faithfully done will bring rich results. Methods that bring results are teacher-training, knowing the Bible and how to apply its teachings, knowing the child.

After a song, W. D. Stem, organized Bible class organizer, spoke on All the Church in the Sunday School and How to Get It There. His principal "how" was to make the services attractive and everybody work for the best interests—make the old and new member feel that he is needed and welcome. The Sunday School is not only the nursery of the church, but it is the teaching service of the church; a place to work, and that includes every member of the church; it is a place to win souls for Christ—to train them in church service. And organization means a place for everybody and everybody in his place—this he emphasized. Every normal man wants something to do. Personal work does the most good.

The session closed with a song, and the benediction by the Rev. Hetrick.

The banquet of the Teacher Training Alumni Association was held at the Virginia Cafe Tuesday evening after the convention session and was participated in by about thirty graduates. The menu was fine and the service good.

Wednesday Morning

A sunrise prayermeeting, held at 6:15 o'clock, led by Rev. W. W. Willard of Riddlesburg, was well attended and spiritually beneficial.

The convention opened at 9 o'clock with song and devotional service by Rev. J. C. Stayer.

President Lysinger, in his annual report, said that it gave him much comfort to look back over the year and see what the condition was then and what it is now. He was gratified to know that the goal had been reached as a front-rank county, and referred to the county banner displaying the proud fact, but warned his hearers that to keep there individual work must be done. He thanked the Sunday School workers for the great assistance given him and his associate officers in attaining what has been attained.

J. C. Stayer, for the Teacher Training Department, gave his report, in which he expressed much gratification for the advance made during the year. Over 50 teacher training classes are in the county with over 200 members.

"The Standard of Excellence" was discussed by M. N. Stalley of Breezewood, being an exposition of the eight points as laid down for the schools by the county organization. He also urged individual effort of members and of the schools.

Vice President Kramer presented as the subject of his discourse the motto of the year's campaign: "Increase." All campaigns have the probable quality of defeat, but in this campaign we are sure defeat will not be ours, if we all work. He urged activity in all departments, all get-together, unite in one harmonious body, and the 25 per cent. increase looked for will be attained.

W. D. Stem spoke on and defined "District Organization." Your school is the basis of the district organization, as it is of the world organization. District organization is the same as an organized school. The session adjourned with the benediction by Rev. Leidy.

Wednesday Afternoon

The session opened with a large attendance at 2 o'clock with a song service, followed by devotional exercises led by Rev. G. W. King of Hopewell.

An amendment to the constitution was passed which provides that the officers and department superintendents elected at the annual convention and the superintendents elected by the districts constitute the Executive Committee of this association, they to choose its officers and name the place of meeting.

The first speaker was Rev. M. A. Kieffer of Everett, whose subject was "The Boy." His contention was that our interest in the boy ought to be intense—get to know him. The best investment the State could make is to select a competent man to go up and down and devise plans to look after the boy—make proper study, devise proper aims—lead him into proper paths. The boy in his beginning is not bad only his environment and precepts make him so. Here is the work for the Sunday School. Get into the boy's sympathy, give him an ideal to follow, impart love, and the result will be success. Let us cease to abuse the boy.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, W. S. Lysinger, Bedford; Vice President, M. H. Kramer, Hyndman; Recording Secretary, M. N. Stalley, Breezewood; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Margaretta Blackburn, Fishertown; Treasurer, D. M. Stoler, Saxton; Statistical Secretary, J. W. Price.

Department Superintendents—Primary and Cradle Roll, Miss Minnie Powell, Bedford; Home, Mrs. H. E. Wileand, Bedford; Adult Bible Class, A. M. McClure, Everett; Temperance, E. M. Pennell, Esq., Bedford; Teacher Training, J. C. Stayer, Woodbury. Statistical Secretary J. A. Cuppett said the report for the year was not yet completed, but after blanks sent out are returned the report will be published.

Reports of chairmen of Tuesday's conferences were made by M. H. Kramer, J. C. Stayer, J. G. Collins and Miss Blackburn.

Treasurer D. M. Stoler's report showed that the balance June 8, 1910, was $116.72; total since collected $143.32; balance on hand $82.29.

A resolution, expressing regret that I. K. Little, Superintendent of Adult Bible Class Department was, because of illness, unable to attend the convention, and conveying to him through the secretary the kindly greetings on the convention and hope for a speedy recovery, was adopted.

W. D. Stem very effectively in the brief time he had defined "Teacher Training," showing that the qualities of a good teacher are, to know the Book, know the needs of the individual, and know when to apply the lesson.

The session closed with the benediction by the Rev. Kieffer.

Wednesday Evening

At 7 o'clock the first parade of men's Bible classes ever held in the county took place, headed by the K. G. E. Band of Riddlesburg and marshaled by W. L. Piper. Prominent in line were the A. M. McClure class of Everett with 50 men, the J. W. Weaver class of Langdonale and a large class of ladies from Langdonale. In all the parade numbered about 200 marchers and it was a decided success.

The last session of the convention opened at 8 o'clock with the Lutheran Church packed and a large overflow meeting in the Reformed Church. Song services preluded the program. Devotional services were led by Rev. Spotts, which were followed by the report of the Committee on Resolutions.

Resolutions Adopted

Whereas, It has pleased our kind Heavenly Father to spare our lives to enjoy the good things of another inspiring and uplifting county convention; and

Whereas, The teaching service of the church is gaining in numbers, influence and power; and

Whereas, We heartily appreciate, and our hearts are made glad, by the presence and co-operation of many of the pastors of the county in our association work therefore, be it

Resolved, That with grateful hearts we render thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God, to whom we ascribe all the honor for the success attained, and for the enlarged visions we have received during this convention.

Resolved, That we express the thanks of the association to the good people of Saxton for the royal welcome and kind hospitality they have given us.

Resolved, That we express our thanks to the pastors and official boards for the use of the various churches, especially the Rev. M. Arthur Spotts and the Lutheran Church, where the main services were held.

Resolved, That we thank Prof. V. N. Herbst and choir for the choice songs selected and music rendered.

Resolved, That we extend our thanks to Mrs. Maud J. Baldwin and Mr. W. D. Stem, State field workers, for their soul-stirring and uplifting addresses; that we thank the County President and department workers for their good work in helping bring Bedford County to the front line, and that we urge upon district presidents to labor hard to have each district meet the standard of excellence requirements.

Resolved, That we call upon all denominations of the county to join in sharing the good things offered by the State Sunday School Association, and that we go to our homes with a firm determination to put into practical use the excellent advice given by our instructors.

Resolved, That we sincerely thank Associate Judge J. W. Huff for his excellent work for good government and civic righteousness, in considering the just reasons for voting against the granting of liquor licenses at last license court, and President Judge Joseph M. Woods for the care he exercised and the able opinion he filed in refusing the applications for liquor licenses.

Resolved, That we extend the sincere thanks of this convention to the Hon. John T. Matt for leading in the fight against the several bills in the Legislature in favor of the liquor business.

These were adopted and the Secretary was instructed to at once wire Governor Tener the protest of the convention against his signing the Kline bill when it comes before him.

The Enrollment Committee presented the following report: Denominations represented, 13; number of schools in the county, about 175, with an approximate enrollment of 18,000; delegates, 97; pastors, 14; Superintendents, 16; Assistants, 10; Secretaries, 9; Treasurers, 5; Librarians, 5; Home Department Superintendents, 4; Teachers of all grades, 73; S. S. Scholars, 71; total enrollment, 204.

Strong Healthy Women

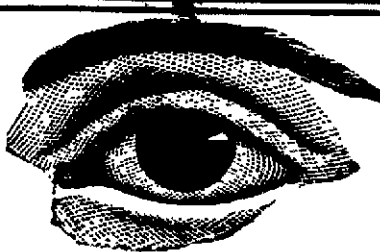

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

It Makes Weak Women Strong. It Makes Sick Women Well. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

Miss Vesta Brightbill of Bedford was called on and gave a recitation, entitled, "The Gate of Mercy," in a highly excellent manner.

The subject "Temperance" was discussed by E. M. Pennell, Esq., of Bedford. He desired to emphasize the fact that the forward movement of temperance and the overthrow of the rum traffic was a matter of educating the people. Great encouragement has been met with, and greater success will yet be obtained if the temperance people will not go to sleep. It is our business to look after the boys and girls, to hold them and direct them right; for it is the youth that the liquor dealer wants. Rum shops are made attractive, but the home should be more so. The teachers he saw in this convention would, in the future, preside over the best families in Bedford County, and it behooves all to give attention to the matter of educating the youth on the temperance question. Be positive in your stand for the right. He paid a compliment to the temperance workers of Saxton, where the county-wide temperance movement was first inaugurated.

The following delegates were elected to the coming State Convention, which meets in New Castle in October: R. C. Smith, D. M. Byers, J. C. Roberts, M. H. Kramer, W. S. Lysinger, J. A. Cuppett, Rev. D. G. Hetrick, Margaretta Blackburn, Rev. M. A. Spotts, A. M. McClure, Allan Eichelberger, D. M. Stoler, A. C. Blackburn, Miss Minnie Powell, E. M. Painter, Rev. H. E. Wileand, Robert Free, Augustus Troutman, Rev. J. C. Stayer and Shannon Troutman. The delegates were given the right to name their own alternates.

Mr. Stem spoke for half an hour on the "Organized Adult Bible Class," and the definite requisites brought out were efficient officers, definite action, the social or soul touch, and personal work, the motto of each member to be "Others."

President Lysinger, in his closing remarks, said that of the seventeen county conventions this one was decidedly the best; more close work was done, greater visions acquired, and now it was the duty of the delegates to go home and get busy for still greater and more effective work.

The singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" and the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. Kieffer closed the most successful convention in the organization's history—a convention the work of which for good will be felt to the remotest boundaries of the county. Saxton, ever progressive in movements for good, deserves much praise for the manner in which she entertained the convention.

STORY OF ORIGIN

OF MEMORIAL DAY.

German Soldier Whose Name Is Forgotten First Suggested Decorating Graves of Comrades.

TO an unknown German, a one time resident of Cincinnati and a veteran of the civil war, belongs the primary credit of suggesting a national Memorial day; to General John A. Logan, soldier-statesman and third commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, and to Norton P. Chipman, adjutant general of the national organization, belongs the honor of promulgating the first order.

In the original orders issued from the Grand Army headquarters by Gen-scatter flowers on the graves of the dead.

"Would it not be a good idea to have the Grand Army of the Republic inaugurate such an idea and set aside a day in spring in memory of the Union dead?" he wrote.

General Chipman regarded the suggestion most favorably, and accordingly he drew up a rough draft of a general order carrying the suggestion into effect. This he laid before General Logan, who heartily approved of the idea.

General Logan suggested that May 30 be made the date for the observance of Memorial day, his idea being that at that date spring flowers could be procured in profusion, even in the most northern states and in New England. There were several conferences on the subject between General Logan and General Chipman.

It is related that General Logan was so enthused with the idea of a general Memorial day that he added several MONUMENT TO THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER DEAD.

IN the beautiful National cemetery at Arlington, Va., across the Potomac from Washington, the monument to the unknown dead is one of the most striking reminders of the pathos of war. This memorial, erected by the government in 1866, bears the following inscription, which tells its own pathetic story:

"Beneath this stone repose the remains of 2,111 unknown soldiers gathered after the war from the fields of Bull Run and the route to the Rappahannock. Their remains could not be identified, but their names and deaths are recorded in the archives of their country, and its grateful citizens honor them as of their noble army of martyrs. May they rest in peace! September, A. D. 1866."

eral Logan, May 30 was designated as what has since been termed Memorial day. The order was issued early in May, 1868, and since that time May 30 has become a holiday and is observed by every Grand Army post in the Union.

General Logan's order, setting May 30 as Memorial day, was eagerly carried out, and the first observance of the day was widespread.

General Logan was elected commander in chief at an encampment held in Philadelphia in January, 1868. He established headquarters in Washington.

Early in May of that year Adjutant General Chipman received a letter from a member of a Cincinnati post in which the first suggestion for Memorial day was made. General Chipman, who is living in California, does not remember the name of the writer who described himself as a German who had served as a private in the Union army. This soldier wrote that in his native country it was a custom of the people to assemble in the spring and paragraphs to the draft of the order drawn by General Chipman, which is the history of the Grand Army of the Republic is known as general order No. 11.

At first the wisdom of General Logan's order was doubted by many persons, who urged as an argument that the setting aside of a Memorial day would unnecessarily keep alive memories of the war and foster enmities. However, the objections were not strong enough, and the first Memorial day was generally observed, even by posts that had been instituted in the south.

In Washington the first Memorial day was observed by appropriate services in Arlington cemetery. Feeling still ran high at the capital then, but a great crowd went to Arlington. General James A. Garfield, who later became president, was the orator of the day. President Johnson was present, and others who attended the ceremonies included General Grant, General W. S. Hancock, General O. O. Howard and General Elkin.

THE LITTLE UNION BUSHWHACKER'S NERVE.

By CAPTAIN F. A. MITCHEL.

MRS. STARKWEATHER, living in middle Tennessee during the civil war, was a Union woman to the core. Her husband was killed by secessionists before hostilities began, leaving her very bitter against them. Her son, Tom Starkweather, was fourteen years old when his father was killed, and he made a boyish vow that he would never miss a chance to kill a secessionist. He found no opportunity to do so until after the war opened. Then at fifteen he began the work of revenge.

He would waylay his enemies and shoot them from behind trees, the regular bushwhacking method during wartime. One by one he picked off all of those who had been instrumental in his father's death.

In those days there were bands of partisan rangers in Kentucky and Tennessee, unenlisted, ununiformed men who fought for the Confederacy on their own hook, which meant that some of them were murderers and pillagers. These men were a special object of Tom's antipathy. A band led by one Bennett, made up in the region where he lived, lost so many men, whose deaths were traced to Tom, that they were anxious to get their hands on the boy.

Tom and another Union boy, Sam Parks, were a good deal together. Tom would do the shooting, and Sam would do the watching. But Sam was unknown by their enemies as having anything to do with the matter, Tom always taking the blame.

One day Bennett's band came into the district where the boys lived, and they went out hunting the rangers for their scalps. By this time Tom was known as the little Union bushwhacker, and Bennett had determined that if he ever caught him he would put an end to his shooting his men from behind trees. While the men were riding along a road one of them dropped behind. Tom, who was concealed in the woods, shot him. Then the two boys ran for Tom's home as fast as their legs could carry them.

Bennett, hearing the shot, galloped back and found his man badly wounded. He told his chief that he had probably been shot by the little Union bushwhacker. Bennett, surmising that Tom would go home, after calling to his men to take care of the one disabled, rode straight for Mrs. Starkweather's cabin. Fearing that the boys would be followed, she hid them.

TOM, WHO WAS CONCEALED IN THE WOODS, SHOT HIM.

When Bennett rode up and asked for Tom she told him that her son was not at home. But this did not satisfy the partisan leader, and he made a thorough search of the premises, with the result that both boys were dragged from behind a wood pile in a shed.

"Which of you boys is the little Union bushwhacker?" asked the captain.

Neither boy replied. Bennett asked the woman, threatening to shoot her if she did not reply.

"You don't suppose I'd tell you uns

LIKE FINDING MONEY

Ed. D. Heckerman Offers Popular Medicine at Half-Price

Ed. D. Heckerman, the popular druggist, is making an offer that is just like finding money, for he is selling a regular 50-cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount he agrees to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure.

It is quite unusual to be able to buy fifty-cent pieces for a quarter, but that is what this offer really means, for it is only recently through the solicitation of Druggist Ed. D. Heckerman that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents. He urged the proprietors to allow him to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified his good judgment for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any chance it should not, Ed. D. Heckerman will return your money.

CURES CATARRH

Also Coughs, Colds, Croup and Sore Throat.

F. W. Jordan guarantees HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) to cure catarrh, acute or chronic; to cure colds, coughs, croup and sore throat, or money back.

In cases of deafness caused by catarrh, there is no remedy so efficient. HYOMEI is a liquid extracted from the eucalyptus trees of Australia, and is a soothing, healing, germ killing antiseptic.

A complete HYOMEI outfit consisting of a bottle of HYOMEI and an indestructible hard rubber pocket inhaler costs $1.00. For treating catarrh or any throat or nose ailment, pour a few drops into the inhaler and breathe.

That's all you have to do, and as the air passes through the inhaler it becomes impregnated with antiseptic HYOMEI, and this soothing, healing air as it passes into the lungs reaches every particle of the inflamed membrane, kills the germs and heals the raw, sore catarrhal spots.

If you now own a HYOMEI inhaler you can buy an extra bottle of HYOMEI for only 50 cents at F. W. Jordan's or druggists everywhere.

on my own son, would you, to get him killed as his father was?"

The captain thought a moment, then said to her:

"You stand up there with your face agin the woodshed."

The woman did as directed, which brought her back to the boys. Bennett handed each of them a revolver and said to them:

"When I give the order you two fire. The one that doesn't or misses I'm goin' to shoot right down."

This was rather a crude method of detecting which was the woman's son, but it was the best the captain could call up at the moment. He expected to judge by the flinching of the one who was required to fire at his own mother.

SHOT HIM THROUGH THE FOREHEAD.

Now, Bennett had left his band to attend to this matter himself. He was so incensed at this new shooting by the little Union bushwhacker that he had dashed away after the culprit, waiting only to call for some one to take care of the man who had been wounded. It never occurred to him that he would need support in hunting a boy. So wrought upon was he by anger that he did not think of the danger of putting arms in the hands of the boy. The two youngsters stood facing Mrs. Starkweather. When the captain gave the order to fire Sam put a bullet as near as possible without hitting her. Tom, quick as a flash, brought his weapon to bear on Bennett and shot him through the forehead.

Mrs. Starkweather turned and, seeing the captain gasping his last breath, said quickly:

"Come, my boy; we must get out of this in a hurry. Sam, you go home. Nobody knows of your being mixed up in this fracas."

Without stopping even to return to the house she and Tom dashed off in one direction, while Sam went in another. The mother and son disappeared in a wood. At the same moment half a dozen horsemen belonging to the band, who, having heard the shooting, galloped after their captain, appeared up the road. When they reached the Starkweather cabin they found it deserted and Bennett lying dead.

They at once scattered to hunt for his slayer, but Tom knew of a hole in the ground overhung with bushes into which he and his mother descended, and the searchers missed them. When the hunt was given up they left their hiding place and made their way into the Union lines.

Oldest Veteran Dead.

William Macabee, believed to have been the oldest veteran of the civil war and one of the oldest persons in this country, has died since last Memorial day. He passed away at the United States Naval home in Philadelphia, where he had been an inmate for thirty years. He celebrated his one hundred and seventh birthday on Sept. 22, when he was able to sit up and receive the congratulations of his friends and tell of many of his experiences in the navy.

Macabee entered the service of the United States when a lad, serving on the frigate Constitution until it was retired from service. He remained in the naval service until he went to the home where he died.

the narrow margin of one foot, and into this space at the nearest point of contact, a single pile was driven after all the caissons had been completed. This pile closed the aperture between the caissons. Piles were then driven in the form of a quarter section of a coaxial circle, connecting each of the caissons with its neighbor, the apex of the quarter circle being in alignment with the outer edges of the caissons, making plug-like, or wedge-shaped connections between them, on the outer side.

These "plugs," as well as the caissons, are filled with mud and earth dredged from the bottom of the harbor, thus forming a steel incased wall of earth about sixty-nine spans, or fifty-two feet high, fifty feet broad and more than a thousand feet in length, built around the wreck soon to be bared to the sight of man, and the secret, hidden for thirteen years in the waters of Havana harbor, made known by the press to the peoples of the world.

The spreading of the caisson, referred to in the second paragraph, in the belief of the engineers, was caused by one of the piles on the outer side having come in contact with a fragment of steel blown from the "Maine," and in being driven into place the pile split. This made a weak spot in the great cylinder and when it was pumped full of mud by the powerful suction dredge at work nearby, the caisson was strained almost to the bursting point. Heavy north-east winds caused a nasty sea in the harbor which beat against the structure with unceasing effort and determined violence. The weakened spot became more susceptible to pressure and when one of the barges employed in the work bumped against this particular caisson, the split pile gave way. As soon as this occurred the heavy column of soft earth contained in the caisson pressed against the weakened part, spreading it as the contents slipped out into the bay. Divers were at once sent down and their report was that the steel piling had been so badly twisted that it would be necessary to pull them up and drive an entirely new set, for the interlocking joints had been spread and rendered unfit by the pressure which forced them apart.

With the exception of this one caisson the preparatory work is complete, the barges with the powerful electric pumps are ready to begin work lifting the water from the immense coffer-dam and remove the curtain of obscurity which has concealed the explanation of that calamitous destruction of American lives which proved to be such a cogent factor in arousing the militant spirit of the American people in 1898.

There are several versions of the explosion but the world will never know the truth until the wreck of the "Maine" is bared for inspection. Perhaps, even then, the wreck may be in such a mangled condition, from the two explosions which are known to have occurred, that the matter will still remain in doubt.

In the Wake of the Measles

The little son of Mrs. O. B. Palmer, Little Rock, Ark., had the measles. The result was a severe cough which grew worse and he could not sleep. She says: "One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured him and he has never been bothered since." Croup, whooping cough, measles cough all yield to Foley's Honey and Tar compound. The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes. Ed. D. Heckerman.

What Napoleon Couldn't Do

An incident connected with Napoleon when he was in exile in Elba is commemorated on the island to this day by an inscription affixed to the wall of a peasant's house. A man named Giacomini was plowing when the famous exile came along one day and expressed an interest in his work. Napoleon even took the plow handles and attempted to guide it himself, but the oxen refused to obey him, overturned the plow and spoiled the furrow. The inscription runs thus: Napoleon the Great, passing by this place in MDCCCIV, took in the neighboring field a plow from the hands of a peasant and himself tried to plow, but the oxen, rebellious to those hands which yet had guided Europe, headlong fled from the furrow.—St. Louis Republic.

Do You Get Up

With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The Guarantee

Gohsa Golde, the American millionaire, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Lotta, picked out a Rembrandt at a foreign dealer's and then, before plunking down the cash, said very sternly:

"Now, see here, sir, do you guarantee this Rembrandt?"

"Yes, Mr. Golde," the dealer replied. "A seven years' guarantee goes with the canvas."

"Oh, very well," said Golde, mollified, and he took out his check book and fountain pen.—Washington Star.

The Flax Plant

Linen is obtained from the flax plant, a small, delicate annual with a tiny blue flower. The plant is pulled by hand in the summer, the seeds, known in commerce as linseed, being removed and the straw subjected to various processes to separate the fibrous part which constitutes the linen. First it is steeped in water and then passed through a drying and heating process on revolving wheels until all foreign matter is removed. It is then ready for manufacture.

THE CLOSING SCENE

The refusal of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania on Monday to grant a new trial to Architect Huston marked the beginning of the closing scene of the last act and the grating of the bars behind him when he enters the penitentiary to begin his sentence will conclude the tragedy in connection with the erection and equipment of the palace of graft at Harrisburg.

Huston will join Shumaker and Snyder who are now serving their terms and Sanderson and Mathues are both dead.

It is a bit of history that we might wish expunged from the records of the state; it is a blot on her escutcheon, but it must remain.

DISGRACEFUL FIASCO

The riot which recently took place in the House of Representatives at Harrisburg was a burning shame and a disgrace. Little wonder our Legislature is looked upon as a joke or a fake. Parliamentary law in more instances than one has been so flagrantly disregarded by the Speaker as to make such an uprising as was recently witnessed inevitable unless the spinal column be removed from the whole membership. It has been a one-man house; a house in which the Speaker has had such smooth sailing that, recounting the past, he ventured to hold the announcement of a vote indefinitely—until some member could be secured. The means not entering into it, who would so vote or so change his vote as to permit the announcement favorable to the state machine. But the crisis came; members who claim title to themselves loudly clamored for the announcement, hence the riot.

Such is the natural outcome of permitting an arrogant political machine to continue its course. But the end of it all may come. Those who are sent to Harrisburg are not all too weak to oppose the method of the "gang" and reveal the farce of the whole system, whose modes of procedure to secure certain ends would be smiled at by a junior member of a country cross-roads literary society. The Speaker is the gang's and a majority of the members of both the House and Senate owe allegiance to the "powers" that have too long disgraced the state.

It is high time Pennsylvania moves to close up old accounts and start a new set of books. Her record for nearly half a century is by no means enviable and the pages are collectively almost ridiculous and pathetic at the same time. Just within these latter days—within the past week—the Legislative hall is the scene of a disgraceful riot and the Supreme Court of the state hands down a refusal to grant a new trial to one convicted of aiding in defrauding the state in connection with the erection and furnishing of the building in which the riot occurred. The history of the state contains the thumb prints in blood of too many who endeavored to cover their shame by self slaughter, and too many are the instances of farce and fake and deception and riot and rottenness in her Legislative halls, and all traceable to the same source—Machine management of the Legislature and Machine management of the state.

The Machine gets what it wants and it does not want men with minds of their own; it wants tools. So long as the Machine exists we may not hope for much improvement. It shall have to be driven from power and kept out. What will the people do?

other statutes were violated by judges on the bench, largely because our judges accepted the law as if its provisions were mandatory, and, unless the opponents of the legalized liquor traffic could show its illegality or its weak points, they, the judges, were required to grant licenses wherever the provisions of the law for applications, petitions and bondsmen were met.

In the court of the county from which I come for a number of years a license was granted to a woman as a distiller, who, as a partner in the business, applied as agent for an estate. Then, when all three distillers applied through individuals acting as agents for heirs or estates, the law of this Commonwealth which forbids the granting of a license to any one acting as an agent was called to the attention of the court, there was nothing else for any just judge to do but refuse such license.

Then, when the good people of my county and others showed that this very Ark of the Covenant of the liquor interests, the Brooks High License Law, did not compel any judge to grant a license, but, if the applicant and petitioners could satisfy the court that a license was needed to accommodate the traveling public, the court could grant a license, but in every case must hear petitions and remonstrances when presented and give due weight to both the number and character of those signing for and against the license.

The court paid heed to the cry for relief and after a moral wave swept over the county and an Associate Judge was elected, most of the licenses went out. Then the lines were again drawn and when the local option and liquor legislation proposition was placed squarely before our people practically all licenses went down and out.

"Now, how does this Kline bill effect my county? It says to our people: 'You are a set of fools. You are not able to judge what is for your good. The three distilleries that have in the past debauched your people and that you have put out of the jug business will be granted licenses by the State Treasurer and then, in the face of all your protests, nothing can be done.' Even if we could by a State-wide movement secure the election of a State Treasurer as good and true as the Angel Gabriel, he would be powerless.

"This bill is revolutionary. It denies by not providing for it, the right of petition, or rather, remonstrance. The character of the applicant is ruled out, there is no discretion whatever, the State Treasurer must grant—for shall, as every man knows, is a mandatory word. The applicant may be as corrupt as hell itself; he needs no petitioners, he needs no citizens to vouch for his character or business, simply bondsmen in the form of a trust company or organization.

"Gentlemen, have we lost all honor? Are we mad with power? Will we take a step that means for many of you political oblivion? Again, who pays the cost in the counties where the havoc is wrought? These applicants pay the State Treasurer so much fee. Who pays for the trial or support of the criminal, the insane, the paupers in your county and mine that have been made public charges by this un-American law? Surely the counties themselves pay the price, while the State gets the fees.

"Gentlemen say that liquor from other counties and states is now shipped into dry territory. Why not give the chance for this gain to come to our local distillers? Simply because in our county the fact will not down, for experience proves it, that a local distiller will sell more liquor throughout the county, five times over, than all the foreign distilleries combined. The bill's one object is to keep by distillers' and brewers' licenses the counties that are or will be dry by action of the people and the court.

"Finally, gentlemen, we all know that the liquor traffic is indefensible. It is condemned by the eternal word of God, which pronounces a curse on him who putteth the bottle to his neighbor's lips. It is condemned at the bar of conscience. It fills penitentiaries, asylums, almshouses, jails and orphanages with its victims. It has been given a fair chance and it fails every time. It has no claim to live. But we believe it is in the way of ultimate extinction. Let us now leave it where it is and where it at present belongs, in the hands of the people. To do this let us defeat this bill. In the name of the weak, the suffering and the unfortunate in every community, I plead with every gentleman of this House that they rise to the position as statesmen that Mr. Gladstone did when he declared: 'It is the duty of the government to make it as hard as possible for people to do wrong and as easy as possible for them to do right,' and by voting against this bill you will be voting right in the sight of man and God."

SCHOOL CODE

Points of Importance to Boards of Directors.

The following brief notes concerning the School Code which was recently passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor are of immediate importance.

All present school boards, except in independent districts, will continue in office until the first Monday in December. Full boards will be elected at the election in November, and take their places on the first Monday in December.

Present boards will reorganize at their first meeting in June, or as soon as possible thereafter, and their officers will continue to serve until the first Monday in December.

Present school boards can elect teachers who will serve through the ensuing school year.

Text-books and school supplies will, until January 1st, be selected and adopted under the old laws.

The present fiscal year will be extended by one month, and will expire on the first Monday in July next. The auditing of these accounts cannot be done until after the first Monday in July.

Present school boards will levy next year's school taxes, and can and should do it at once.

Present independent school districts will be abolished after July 1, 1911, but the courts may, upon petition, reconstitute them at any time after that time.

A synopsis of the Code will be printed in these columns next week.

MR. MATT EXPLAINS

House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pa., May 21, '11.
Mr. S. A. Van Ormer,
Bedford, Pa.

Dear Sir:—I notice by last week's Gazette you have quoted me as voting for the School Code. This I did as the Code passed the House in its best form from House Committee; but voted against it as it came from the Senate and Conference Committee, as they amended it to such an extent as to make it a tax raiser and office creator, and many provisions were cut out that were for the good of our country districts.

Please correct and give my reasons for it.

Your friend,
John T. Matt.

A Dissatisfied Customer

can kill more trade for us than ten pleased buyers can create.

It is our policy, therefore, to give such complete clothes satisfaction that a dissatisfied customer is an impossibility. We depend on "ALCO SYSTEM" clothes to please our customers and you too, can depend on them. They are gentlemen's garments made of fine materials, with fine linings and strong "interiors," just like an exclusive tailor would make them with just as much style and hand work to guarantee fit and wearing qualities.

The only difference is that "ALCO" clothes cost less, much less, than any tailor would charge. For grown-ups of any age from 15 to 50.

Corn for Re-Planting

Five bushels of our thoroughbred "U. S. No. 133" did not arrive in time for the general distribution. Yesterday I received a telegram stating that five bushels of this corn were expressed to me.

This five bushels of corn is for distribution in Cambria, Blair, Huntingdon, Somerset, Bedford and Fulton Counties, that being my district. It will go out in lots of two quarts to each applicant in the order of the application. It is not intended for replanting this year, but to give each farmer a chance to make seed for future use. It will go out by franked mail immediately on receipt of application.

The fodder is medium and the ear averages (seed ears) a little over a half pound. The corn has some decided virtues, viz:

1. It is safe to plant as late as the first week of June, and even later in a favorable season; of that we are sure.

2. It adapts itself to new conditions of soil and altitude far more quickly and surely than any other yellow corn with which I have worked. We have had no soft corn from it in three years of testing.

3. It has been so well bred that barren stalks and bunnies are exceedingly scarce; the smallest stalks apparently being able to shape a small ear and take it out of the bunny class.

Re-planted two weeks or so after the first planted corn it will usually have its silk and tassel out in time to receive pollen from the old planting as well as to cross pollinate the latter; thus insuring a good yield for the crib and making re-planting profitable,—which is not the case with re-planting as we have been doing it.

On good land and with good culture 120 bushels of ears or even more may be looked for from this corn. It only takes an average ear weighing six ounces to make 120 bushels per acre. Where we fall down at present is in the bunnies and barren stalks which quickly pull down the average yield.

Notice of shipment of this seed came too late to permit the writing of personal letters, so I have sent this general notice to the papers of the six counties.

Presbyterians Endorse Union

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, in session at Atlantic City this week, voted for union with the Reformed Church. When two-thirds of the Presbyteries have approved of the action it will be the final action on the matter in that denomination. The Reformed Church is supposed to take like action during the present triennium. Presbyterians, all branches, number 1,821,504 members; Reformed, all branches, number 430,458 members, in the United States.

Huston Refused New Trial

On Tuesday of this week the Supreme Court of the state refused a new trial to Joseph M. Huston, chief architect in the construction of Pennsylvania's "Temple of Graft," who was convicted in connection with the graft cases.

If Huston's conduct meets the approval of the board of managers of the penitentiary, to which he will soon be taken, pays the costs of the case and the fine imposed he may be released in six months.

Two others of those convicted of defrauding the state, Shumaker and Snyder, who are serving sentences of not less than two nor more than five years are both said to be in good health.

OUR SOLDIER DEAD IN 84 CEMETERIES.

More Than 350,000 Heroes of Our Wars
Are Buried in Graveyards Owned by the Government.

IN the palmy days of democratic Athens the bones of every citizen who perished in the service of his country were brought home to be buried in the Ceramicus. A day was appointed in the winter, when military operations were suspended, for the funeral. One of the noblest orations of antiquity—that attributed by Thucydides to Pericles—was delivered on such an occasion.

Modern nations build stately mausoleums for their great generals, but are usually content to allot only the hasty trench or ditch to the common soldier. The bones of British soldiers are scattered the world around.

To this rule of indifference as to the final resting place of obscure heroes the United States forms a shining and honorable exception. There are today eighty-four national cemeteries, which contained on June 30, 1900, the graves of 859,285 American soldiers and sailors.

The national cemeteries are mainly a result of the civil war. In September, 1861, the secretary of war by general order directed accurate and permanent records to be kept of deceased soldiers and their places of burial. The work was assigned to the quartermaster general's department. That department already had charge of the burial of officers and soldiers, but its care had ordinarily ended with the drifting smoke of the guns that were discharged over their graves.

By act of July 17, 1862, congress empowered the president to purchase cemetery grounds to be used for the burial of soldiers who shall die in the service of their country. Such was the intensity of the great war that for some time no action was taken under the law.

Following the battle of Gettysburg Governor Curtin of Pennsylvania inaugurated a movement whereby several states purchased seventeen acres of ground embracing the center of the Union line and caused to be disinterred and reburied there the bodies of the soldiers who had been buried outside this area. The cemetery was dedicated by Lincoln, Nov. 19, 1863, in that perfect tribute to the "honored dead" who there "gave the last full measure of devotion." The cemetery was subsequently taken over by the nation.

In the summer of 1865 a force of men under Captain James Moore was sent to Andersonville to inclose the grounds and provide headboards for each grave. They were able to identify 12,461 of the graves, leaving only 451 "unknown."

The eighty-four national cemeteries are divided according to importance into twenty-six first class, twenty second class, sixteen third class and twenty-two fourth class cemeteries. Those in the first class include Arlington, Andersonville, Antietam, Chancellorsville, Chattanooga, Nashville, Corinth, Gettysburg, Fredericksburg, Jefferson Barracks, Shiloh and Vicksburg. In the number of interments that at Arlington stands first, with 21,106. That at Vicksburg is a rather close second, with 16,892. The Nashville cemetery is third, with 16,691.

Arlington, as is generally known, formerly belonged to the wife of General Robert E. Lee. Mrs. Lee was a daughter of George Washington Parke Custis, who was a grandson of Martha Washington. The stately mansion, whose classic columns have been seen by every visitor to Washington city, was inherited by her, and at the outbreak of the civil war it was the Lee home. Lee, then a colonel in the United States army, wrote his resignation there April 20, 1861. Two days later

Unexpected Guests

The farmer and his wife were about to sit down to a cold supper when they saw some old friends driving towards the house.

The good wife was equal to the occasion—thanks to her New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

She had it lit in a moment, and her guests hardly were seated on the porch before a hearty hot meal was ready for the table—sausages and eggs and long rashers of streaky bacon, and rolls just crisped in the oven and fresh coffee—and the hostess herself as cool and neat as if she had not been near the kitchen.

She never could have managed it with an old-fashioned range. The New Perfection is the quickest, most convenient and best cooker on the market.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc. Dealers everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency.

HIS STUPID MISTAKE

Much to His Surprise It Was Promptly Rectified.

A well known Londoner was planning an entertainment on an elaborate scale to be given to various friends in the neighborhood of his country seat. Unfortunately his nearest neighbor, a close relative, is highly uncongenial to himself and his intimates, and he racked his brains to devise a scheme by which he might avoid the necessity of inviting the undesirable cousin to be among his guests.

"I have it!" he announced to his wife at breakfast on the morning of the event. "I'll send him some tickets for the play tonight in town. Of course he'll be delighted, as he seldom has an opportunity of going to the theater."

The tickets were accordingly sent, and the host with an easy conscience proceeded to enjoy the company of his friends. But his satisfaction was of short duration. At the height of the festivities, much to his surprise, in walked the objectionable neighbor. "Such a stupid mistake you made!" he announced as he approached his cousin. "As soon as I heard about your party I knew that you must have sent me the tickets for the wrong night, so I got them changed for tomorrow evening and came right over here as soon as I could!"—London Tatler.

"Generally debilitated for years. Had sick headaches, lacked ambition, was worn-out and all run-down. Burdock Blood Bitters made me a well woman."—Mrs. Chas. Freitoy, Moosup, Conn.

A Bigger Bid
A Lincolnshire parish once possessed a clergyman who was not much appreciated. One day he remarked to his church warden: "You people don't seem to appreciate me. Do you know that on leaving my last sphere of work the people showed their appreciation so much that they gave me a real silver slaver?"

"That is nothing," was the churchwarden's reply. "If that would only go away from this parish we'd give thee a gold un!"—London Chronicle.

The Sense of Humor

A man has a sense of humor or he has not. If he has not he cannot acquire it; if he has it by birthright he cannot lose it with the passing of years. The only change as life goes on in one who has this inborn sense is that different things appeal to it from those that excited amusement in youth, but in this it is like other mental faculties. As judgment mellow and ripens, so the power of discovering those things that excite humor becomes more discriminating. Humor is not a physical attribute to fade as the body loses its youthful elasticity, but purely mental. Men who possess it in goodly measure have been known to smile on their deathbeds over the very comedy of life.—Indianapolis Star.

Lesson IX.—Second Quarter, For
May 28, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mic. iv, 1-8—Memory Verses, 2, 3—Golden Text, Mic. iv, 3—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Our golden text and its context, which tells of a time when nations shall learn war no more, is found also in Isa. ii, 1-4. The same glorious assurance is found in Ps. xlv, 9, "He maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth." It is written in a different form in Isa. xxvii, 1-7, "A king shall reign in righteousness, * * * and the work of righteousness shall be peace." In Ps. lxxii, 11, we read that "all kings shall fall down before Him; all nations shall serve Him." In Rev. xi, 15, we are told of the time when "the kingdoms of this world shall have become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ." It would be well if teachers and scholars would search out the many passages which tell of this kingdom of peace on earth when the Lord shall come in His glory and occupy the throne of David at Jerusalem, ruling in the midst of Israel, and also as King of kings and Lord of lords—King over all the earth. I will suggest a few passages which will lead to many more if any one is willing to search: Isa. ix, 6, 7; Luke i, 31, 32; Zeph. iii, 14, 15; Zech. xiv, 9; Jer. xlii, 17; Dan. vii, 27; Ezek. xlii, 7.

Not by the armies of the nations, nor by peace conferences, nor by the church, nor by missions, shall this be brought about; nor in this present age of the world's history, but only by Him concerning whom it is written, "I will overturn, overturn, overturn it. * * * until He come whose right it is, and I will give it Him" (Ezek. xxi, 27).

Not by any nation now existing as such on the face of the earth will He bring peace on earth, but by Israel, soon to be restored and recognized as a nation and to be converted as a nation when they shall see Him coming in glory and shall receive Him as their Messiah. Isaiah's message had special reference to Judah and Jerusalem, allude to Samaria and Jerusalem (Isa. i, 1; Mic. i, 1).

The words Israel, Zion, Jerusalem, must always be taken in their plain literal sense unless there is some qualifying phrase or adjective indicating differently. The Zion and Jerusalem of Mic. iii, 12, are the same as the Zion of Mic. iv, 7. It has been overthrown many times; it shall as truly and literally become the throne of the Lord, which He shall build up when He comes in His glory (Ps. cii, 16).

In those days when the glory of the Lord shall be seen in Israel nations shall flow to her as literally as the queen of Sheba and the kings of the earth came to Solomon, or as the wise men from the east brought their treasures to the king of the Jews when He was but a babe in Bethlehem (II Chron. ix, 9, 22-24). According to Mic. v, 2, it was predicted that He would be born in Bethlehem, and He was. The same verse says that He would rule in Israel, and though He has never yet done so He will just as truly and literally as He was born in Bethlehem. From Jerusalem His word has gone forth into all the world to gather out from all the nations a people for His name, His body, the church, to reign with Him when He shall come in His glory, but that was not revealed in Old Testament times nor until after He had come in humiliation proclaiming a kingdom at hand which never came because they killed the King, and thus postponed the kingdom till He shall come again, for the heavens have received Him until the times of restoration of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all His holy prophets since the world began (Acts in, 20, 21). Then shall (Mic. vii, 20) be fulfilled, "Thou wilt perform the truth to Jacob, and the mercy to Abraham, which Thou hast sworn unto our fathers from the days of old."

Some nations are against Israel to this day, but they know not the thoughts of the Lord, neither understand they His counsel, and do not know that a time is coming when their gain and their substance shall be consecrated unto the Lord of the whole earth, who will then be ruler in Israel. See verses 11 to 13 of our lesson chapter and all of Isa. lx: When this great peace shall have come on earth none shall make Israel afraid any more (verse 4); they shall not see evil any more (Zeph. iii, 15).

As we consider the thousands still being driven from their homes in Russia let us pray more earnestly for the fulfillment of Isa. lxii, 1-7. A great war must come before there can be this good time of war no more, for it is His determination to gather the nations to pour upon them His indignation because of their treatment of His people Israel. He shall smite the earth with the rod of His mouth and with the breath of His lips shall He slay the wicked (Isa. xi, 4). At His coming in glory with all His saints shall this be, and then shall the last verses of our lesson be fulfilled, "The Lord shall reign over them in Mount Zion from henceforth, even forever, * * * the kingdom shall come to the daughter of Zion." This is more fully described in Rev. xix, 11-16, and it is utterly useless to expect peace on earth, a lasting peace, until "the man shall be the peace" and be great unto the ends of the earth, ruling in Israel as the earthly center of His worldwide kingdom.

Then, too, there are special features connected with the High School which arouse special interest; the literary society, the examining board, the banquet, the baccalaureate sermon and the commencement.

The directors advanced another step last fall when they voted to lengthen the term of the Grammar school at Defiance to nine months, and admit from the other schools all pupils who are prepared to join the preparatory class at Defiance, which class shall receive two months of special instruction and drill for entrance to the High School. Twenty boys and girls from six different schools of the township took advantage of these two months, several having walked each morning from three to four miles. A later report will show how many of these passed to the High School.

Commencement

The first sign that commencement was near, which is the greatest event of the year, was indicated when the teachers began to submit their final tests. These were soon followed by tests submitted on the 15th and the 18th of May by District Superintendent Brumbaugh, on the 19th by County Superintendent Brumbaugh, and on the 20th by Prof. H. D. Metzger. It is gratifying to know that the various classes made good averages, and the character of the work done reflects credit on their teachers.

A very fitting and thoughtful event of the commencement season was a banquet given by Professor Barney in honor of his graduating class on the evening of the 19th. Those who enjoyed the feast of good things with Prof. and Mrs. Barney and the three graduates, were Miss Kuhn, Assistant Principal, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McBrum, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Brumbaugh. If time and space would permit we would like to tell of Professor Barney's good stories and Mrs. Barney's lunch and hospitality. This was a good thing for the graduates as it made them forget the examinations and encouraged them for their commencement work.

This event was followed on Sunday night with The Baccalaureate Sermon preached in the M. E. Church by Rev. W. W. Willard from Ezekiel 20: 37. He brought out many beautiful and helpful thoughts not only for the graduates but for all who were willing to hear. His theme was "faithfulness to service." He showed in a strong appeal how these young people are "bonded" to be interested in and to serve themselves, society, and Christ. And what debt of gratitude they owe to their parents, their teachers, the local school authorities, the state and the founders of our school system.

This service was a forerunner and introduction to the commencement exercises proper Monday night, which proved to be a success from start to finish, and which demonstrated again the urgent need of an Assembly Hall, fully one-fourth of the audience was obliged to stand either on the inside or about the windows on the outside.

While the school was being "lined up" at the school building, Professor Shriner's Orchestra from Juniata College, Huntingdon, was entertaining the waiting audience at the church.

The class had chosen for their motto "Wissenschaft ist die beste Kraft," Old Rose and Nite Green for their colors, and the Pink Rose for their flower. After all were provided with a rose and the class colors, we were marched into the church in the following order: Prof. Barney and Supt. Brumbaugh in the lead followed by Rev. Willard and Rev. Dr. Van Ormer, Directors McElwee and Lloyd, Miss Kuhn, Assistant Principal, and Miss Ola Young, the only female graduate, John Little and Frank McGahey, the other two graduates; next came the Middleers, then the Juniors, and the Preparatory class. The three graduates, Prof. Barney, Rev. Willard and Dr. Van Ormer occupied seats on the platform. Just as the orchestra finished playing a selection Rev. Willard arose and delivered the Invocation, which was followed by the Salutatory Oration, "Ungranted Gates," by Frank Edward McGahey. A chorus, entitled "Daffodils," was next delightfully sung by the girls of the Middle and Junior classes, Mrs. Barney presiding at the piano.

John Henry Little then delivered an oration on "America's Blight," after which Miss Marietta Lee, a member of the orchestra, sang a solo. The next number was an instrumental duet, "Dixie—Maryland," by Arthur Willis (clarinet) and Oscar Davis (violin). Miss Vera Barton, pianist, after which the Valedictorian, Miss Ola Sophia Young, read an essay entitled "Cui Bono." This was followed with a piano duet, "Valse Blue" by Misses Barton and Taylor.

With a few well chosen remarks Prof. Barney introduced to the audience the commencement speaker, Rev. Dr. Van Ormer of Shippensburg, who delivered a very interesting and helpful address on "A Bit of Rear-Platform Philosophy," in which he pleaded with the parents and the school authorities to "give the boys and girls a chance," and with the boys and the girls to take advantage of "the chance" when it is offered them.

After this splendid talk the diplomas were presented to the graduates by Prof. Barney, who, in his pleasing and impressive manner, complimented the class on their faithfulness and application to study during the year in which he labored with them, spoke of the pleasure afforded him in teaching them, and with a few fitting words concerning their future duties and usefulness, and a "God bless you," he handed to them the much prized diplomas which excuse them from any further obligation to the school system of Broad Top Township and commission them to go forth and fight life's battles as they come to them of which the part they played this night was truly only the "commencement."

After the orchestra played several selections, the audience adjourned feeling that all had been well entertained and instructed. Every part was well rendered and reflected credit on those who have had the work in charge. The work of the graduates was exceptionally well performed. The subject matter was of the highest order and the delivery was splendid.

We regret very much the fact that only two members of the school board had the privilege of hearing these exercises. This was the first commencement exercise that Mr. Lauder was not privileged to attend, a fact noted by a number of citizens. The other members not present, live a considerable distance away and doubtless had very good reasons for not being present.

We realize that our schools cost money and sacrifice; but what good thing does not cost money and sacrifice? While they do cost much we have the satisfaction of knowing that our children are reaping the benefits and that we are making of our boys and girls better citizens, more useful men and women, and safer leaders in the affairs of our state and nation. May God help us always to seek after the better things of life.

GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION

Organization to Be Effected for Better Highways.

On Wednesday evening, May 31, at 7:30, a meeting will be held at Schellburg to organize a Good Roads Association. All who are interested are asked to attend. At this meeting what constitutes a lawful road will be discussed, and made plain.

This movement has had its start from the disgraceful condition of the roads this spring; but back of that is the years in which we have foolishly allowed the road masters and supervisors to assume that they are our masters instead of our servants. It is high time that we abandon our present system of loose stone and breakers, which wear alike on horses, wagons and tempers.

It has been quite usual that requests for legal road making have been either openly laughed at or unheeded by the supervisors and road masters. The law is perfectly plain. The whip hand is with the public. The failure to pick the loose stone from the roads this spring is an indictable offense; the making or repairing of roads in ways other than those provided by the statute is also indictable. And every constable who makes return certifying that the roads are in good condition is subject to fine.

There is not a disociation to proceed to extremes; but there is a set tied purpose to compel good road making, peaceably, if possible; and if it cannot be done in that way, then by such action as the law allows.

HIGH-CLASS SHOES AT FAIR PRICES

This is a very simple phrase, but it means much to people who buy SHOES here; to people who like stylish, comfortable, correctly fitting and lasting footwear at fair prices. Our Heywood Shoes for men and Reed's Shoes for women are in a class by themselves. No other shoes at near the same prices equal them for actual goodness. We give particular attention to Boys' and Girls' Shoes. These are sturdily and neatly made from good soft calf leather; and we believe that the styles we show are not equaled at the prices.

WOMEN'S SPECIAL $2.00 SHOES

Hundreds of women are deriving the utmost satisfaction from these shoes. Always perfect fitting and comfortable, they retain their shape longer than most shoes do at this price. Ten different styles and shapes, all guaranteed to give excellent service.

MEN'S SPECIAL $2.00 SHOES

Undoubtedly the greatest value in men's shoes in Bedford County. All leathers. New styles for work and dress. For every day wear, box calf and coltskin are very popular and satisfactory.
